Course Objectives

The audience will explore mind sets and recognize how this is the crucial foundation of a team if the goal is to succeed. Initially each team member will conclude their own mind set. Thereafter, one will take his/her individual mind set and work with the team to fit in to become an effective contributing team member. As a team, the goal is set to accomplish when the “group” mind set is well blended. To test out the new team’s ability, they will work together to achieve a task with limited time and material.
